2019 Prep Enrolments

During the month of August schools start their planning for next year. If you have a child or know of someone whose child is due to start at Caulfield South P.S. in 2019, please make sure they know to enrol now! We appreciate this important information to assist us with planning our school class structure and staffing for the following year.

Have you had your say? Fundraising for Our Next CSPS Project

Thank you for the terrific responses we've had so far from parents, students and teachers voting on our schematic plan. We would like to give more parents the opportunity to vote. A few years ago, Green Machine had the fabulous landscaper, Richard Bellemo who created a schematic plan to improve our outdoor areas for the students. Thus far, we have completed the Friendship Circle, Nature Play Space and the Bamboo Forest. We would love your input on what project we should fundraise for next. Please view the whole schematic plan outside the office or outside the hall. Thanks for all your support so far. There are EIGHT projects so please only choose 1 option out of the 8 provided.

Please go to <https://goo.gl/forms/t91RS0fu78SFR2Ue2>

What is an important message to pass on and when?

As you can imagine with 503 students, the office is a very busy place. We get quite a few parents ringing the office after lunch to pass messages on to their children. Office staff are instructed to minimise interruptions to class teachers during learning time. The office gets very busy in the last 15 minutes of the day so office staff can't always call classrooms just before the bell to pass messages on to children.

Examples of messages- please tell my child to walk the dog, don't let him off the lead; walk to xxxxx and call mum as soon as you get there; remind my child which toilets to use; please check if my child is wearing xxx jumper

Of course, there are times when emergencies arise, such as a change of plan for students to go to after care or to be collected by another adult. These messages need to be conveyed. Duty of care is extremely important to us so please consider the urgency of your message before you ring.

SunSmart Thinking Starts Now!

Although this winter is still a bit up and down with some nice hints of spring to come, the UV levels are on the rise with sun protection times already being forecast.

From September the 1st our students will again be wearing their uniformed hats so it's time to dust off the sun protection gear and be ready.

You may have noticed the yellow shade sail has been removed as it was ripped, making it an occupational safety hazard. We are currently having 2 new sails made for the Junior Playground which will take a few weeks to make then install.

COUNCIL CORNER

Our school has been a very busy place!

Ongoing maintenance of our school includes the toilet upgrade, which is on-track to be completed on time. Other works include new bubblers near the SLC, an upgrade of our upstairs reading room and repair of the wooden windows in the Prep room. Playground upkeep is ongoing and will be continued on the parent working bee on October 28th.

Council was pleased to hear reports that our school has received really positive feedback regarding our core business of teaching and learning, from both our mid-year review from the Department and other schools. We hope that this remains the primary focus of our school community.

Bronwyn Fensham—School Council member and Year 6 Coordinator

Science Day @ CSPA

On Thursday 9th August we celebrated National Science Week at CSPA by having a science morning. We worked with people in all different classes and we did different activities like colour wheels, skittles and getting Rapunzel out of her tower. Some people made slides and springs to rescue her.

Have you ever seen the inside of a skittle? It looks like a white skittle because the colour peels off into the water and mixes.

Thank you Ms Patel and Miss Ryde for letting us have a fun morning.

CYBER SAFETY PROJECT

Caulfield South Primary School

THE CYBER SAFETY PROJECT PARENT EVENT

Focus: Safe online and social media practices

For children today, growing up digital is a whole new world. Learning safe practices and strategies for maintaining a positive digital reputation starts in the home. It takes a village to raise a child, so understanding what your children are learning at school is crucial in ensuring the messages are consistent and ongoing.

This session aims at providing parents with the insights and important information about popular social networking and online gaming platforms for young people today. Building a positive and healthy family environment where digital use is encouraged but managed effectively can be a tough balance. We will discuss ways you can ensure your children stay safe through making use of an application's privacy settings and help them to build positive digital habits through your family's digital user agreement.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

- ✓ Discover the ins and outs of Facebook, Instagram & Snapchat
- ✓ Uncover mobile apps and games that can be potentially harmful
- ✓ Explore strategies that foster positive digital experiences for children
- ✓ Discuss ways to manage digital wellbeing for children at home

Victorian Interschools Snowsports Championships (VISC)

The VISC is held every winter at Mt Buller. It aims to increase awareness and participation in Snowsports, together with nurturing and supporting emerging talent across all Snowsports disciplines.

This year, for the first time CSPS has been registered as a participating school representing CSPS. As this is not a school endorsed event, Lubana Squire, as the parent Snowsports coordinator, has organised the administration, registering, enquiries and other responsibilities. The students, Charlie, Lewis, Oliver and Anthony have been having a fantastic time- as the photos show!

YEAR 6 EXHIBITION

As you may know, the year 6's just had our exhibition. If you don't know what our exhibition is, it is when we pick a topic or issue in the world that we are interested in and do a lot of in-depth research about it in order to take action. As part of our research, we contacted professionals about the topic, to see what they knew and what they could inform us about. After we gained all this knowledge, we sorted it with graphic organisers, considered different perspectives and came to our own conclusions. To present our 10 weeks of hard work, we got to paint fridge boxes and decorate them with colours, symbols and images that represent our topics. We also chose 1 or more actions about our topic, that we thought would make an impact on others and our world. Remember, these actions definitely weren't all massive ones and as a part of what we learnt, when you want to make a difference, it doesn't have to be something that will change the world forever. Once we finished we got to show the other year levels for practise for the big night ahead. We would just like to thank all teachers, parents and students for coming around to visit our stalls. We really appreciate all the love and feedback everyone gave us. Overall, we really enjoyed this unit of inquiry and we couldn't have done it without all the encouragement you gave us. We'd like to thank all the amazing mentor teachers, that kept us on track and made sure we were getting all our work completed. Speaking on behalf of all the year 6's, we'd like to thank the teachers for supporting us during this process, pushing us to do our best work and making it as fun and interesting as it could be. We can definitely say we all had a great time and are very tired from all the hard work!

Why study Chess.

We run Chess classes at Caulfield South PS on Wednesday lunch time

Why should your child Play chess, here is a list

Reasons

Active learning.

Chess is an active learning situation. The formal teaching component of a lesson is usually about one quarter of the lesson time, and even this time is fully interactive, with children being required to analyse situations and decide on a series of outcomes. ‘What if’ scenarios are very much a part of teaching chess? Because of the active nature of the game, chess lessons are fun.

Learning at one’s own rate.

In a mixed age group chess club, teachers often find that the most advanced chess students are not the oldest in the class. The ability to understand and progress at one’s own rate is one of the major advantages of learning chess, and it is not uncommon to find a grade 2 or 3 student who can hold their own, and in fact beat most of the adults that they are likely to play.

In the words of one of our grade 3 students John B...who had just soundly beaten his teacher, “Don’t worry Mr , I’ve been learning chess formally now for 4 years!”

Analysing without the aid of reading and writing.

In the game of chess, a child mentally analyses a situation and then makes a move. All of this is done without the aid of reading, writing or comprehension.

Because of this, we feel chess is a window into the brain of a young child.

Even before a child has acquired the skills of reading, writing and comprehension they can soar ahead in areas of reasoning, logical deduction and analysis. Because of this, chess teachers occasionally find a difference in which children they consider to be exceptional and those that are performing well in the more traditional areas of learning. We have found over the years that chess can provide an outlet for those able students who are not finding fulfilment in the classroom.

Crossover into other areas of ability.

There is a lot of literature, and much anecdotal evidence, that suggests students who learn chess gain an advantage in areas such as reading, comprehension and maths. If you would like to know more about this, we can point you in the right direction in the literature.

Social development.

In a game of chess it doesn’t matter if the person on the other side of the board is 8 or 80, and one of the side benefits of the game is that children are able to interact with adults, teachers, parents and grandparents in a mature manner. In many chess clubs the mature interaction of the students with the teachers is one of the most pleasant aspects of the club.

An introduction into the wider chess community.

Many schools take their chess students to the interschool tournaments that are available in Melbourne. These tournaments are an amazing spectacle of intellectual energy, fun and excitement. The children love these days, playing chess, meeting other students, and just having fun.

Children enjoy learning.

One of the easy things for us as chess teachers is that the students enjoy the classes, and when students enjoy something, they learn, with all the benefits that brings.
